Marva Collins, a nationally-noted educator, will be in Charlotte today and tomorrow to talk about educating disadvantaged children.

Collins, who received the National Humanities Medal from President Bush in 2004, will be honored tonight during a reception from 4:30 p.m. to 6 p.m. at the Charlotte School of Law's facility at 2145 Suttle Avenue, near Bryant Park.

On Saturday, from 10 a.m. to noon, she will present a seminar, "Every Child Can Be a Real Achiever." It will be offered free to local teachers and school administrators. For details, call (704) 971-8527.
